

POSTDOCTORAL POSITION IN ONCO-HEMATOLOGY

Institute of Biomedicine of Seville (IBiS, HUVR/CSIC/Universidad de Sevilla)

Applicants should hold a PhD in disciplines related to Life Sciences, Oncology and/or Hematology. They will be involved in multidisciplinary research focused on metabolic vulnerabilities related to genetic mutations in Acute Myeloid Leukaemia (AML) and other related diseases in cell lines and animal models. Experience in hematology field, in metabolic studies and/or molecular studies in AML. Stay abroad up to 12 months. Certificated training in animal experimentation, flow cytometry experience and collaboration in clinical assays and patent application are not mandatory to apply but will be valued.

3-year contract through Calls for proposals of Consejería de Transformación Económica, Industria, Conocimiento y Universidades; or Consejería de Salud y Familias.

Candidates should email CV and contact information for 3 references to Prof. José Antonio Pérez Simón:

josea.perez.simon.sspa@juntadeandalucia.es